No Man Is An Island

No man is an island, Entire of itself, Every man is a piece of the continent, A part of the main. If a clod be washed away by the sea, Europe is the less. As well as if a promontory were. As well as if a manor of thy friend's Or of thine own were: Any man's death diminishes me, Because I am involved in mankind,

No Man Is An Island Poem by John Donne - Poem Hunter

'No man is an island' sounds like, and is, an old proverbial expression. Oddly, although it was coined in the 17th century, it only began to be used widely in the second half of the 20th century. This usage started around 1940 but was probably accelerated by the release of a film of the same name in 1962.

No Man Is an Island Quotes Showing 1-30 of 132 "The beginning of love is the will to let those we love be perfectly themselves, the resolution not to twist them to fit our own image. If in loving them we do not love what they are, but only their potential likeness to ourselves, then we do not love them: we only love the reflection of ...

No Man Is an Island Quotes by Thomas Merton - Goodreads

No Man Is an Island strikes me as one of those books which are referenced by many but read by few. I stumbled upon this book by Divine Providence; and by virtue of having read it, already sense that I have been elevated to much greater levels of spirituality than I have ever known.
