This is one of the few things in life, along with Two Black Girls of course, that I am incredibly proud to have been involved with. We delved into our own experiences as black faces in Higher Education in episode five and let's just say recording that episode was painful in many ways. We need to keep talking about higher education and its blinding whiteness from the academic staff (don't ...

The First Scholars Such are the settings in which the first Indologists first appeared. Sir William Jones, the first British to master Sanskrit and study the Vedas, drew fire from the eminent British historian James Mill, author of History of India, for his "hypothesis of a high state of civilization". Typically, Mill believed that the: "The people of India were never advanced and that they ...
